

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Butler University offers a variety of financial aid programs based on academic excellence, performance ability or the family's ability to contribute. Aid may be in the form of scholarships, grants, student loans and campus employment, funded by federal, state and Butler University resources. Students who are seeking the maximum amount of financial aid are encouraged to file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) by March 1, each year.

Any application materials or documents for scholarships or financial aid submitted by the student and his or her family become the property of the university and a permanent record of the Office of Financial Aid. The Office of Financial Aid is responsible for compliance with university, federal and state regulations and guidelines.

Student services

Financial aid counselors are available for additional information and counseling at (317) 940-8200, (877) 940-8200 toll free, or by e-mail at finaid@butler.edu. Forms and applications are available in the Office of Financial Aid and online at www.butler.edu/financialaid.

Freshman academic scholarships

Recognizing academic achievement and potential is the purpose of the Freshman Academic Scholarship Program. Butler University awards funds to entering freshmen who have a strong high school academic record.

Entering freshmen may be offered an academic scholarship based on a combination of ACT or SAT scores and high school class rank. Continuing students may renew their academic scholarship each year by meeting scholarship renewal criteria. The criterion for full renewal of all academic scholarships is a 3.0 cumulative G.P.A. (not rounded).

If a student does not meet the scholarship renewal criteria for a particular scholarship level, the amount of the scholarship will be adjusted based on the student's G.P.A. Students may request reinstatement of the original value of the scholarship by meeting the required G.P.A. All G.P.A.s are automatically reviewed at the end of each spring semester. Please refer to the original award letter and acceptance form regarding the criteria specific to your award.

Departmental awards

Incoming freshmen interested in departmental awards must complete the application for admission by Dec. 1 to be considered for these awards. Scholarship opportunities are available to students choosing a major in the colleges of business administration, education, or liberal arts and sciences, and those pursuing a career in law or medicine. The scholarships are renewable, as long as the student upholds the academic standards outlined in the scholarship offer.

JCFA talent award

Audition awards are based upon performance ability and artistic potential. Audition awards are offered at the time of admission; an audition is required. Renewal of your audition award is determined by satisfactory academic progress and artistic achievement. Recipients are selected by the Jordan College of Fine Arts and approved by the Office of Financial Aid. JCFA awards may be renewed for an additional six consecutive semesters of enrollment, as long as the student upholds the standards outlined in the scholarship offer.

Athletic grant-in-aid

Athletic Grant-in-Aid for men and women is offered through the Butler University Department of Athletics. Varying amounts for tuition, room or board may be offered, dependent upon athletic ability & program. Recipients are selected by the athletic department and approved by the Office of Financial Aid within compliance of NCAA-Division I regulations.

National merit and national achievement scholarship

Semi-finalists in the National Merit or National Achievement Scholarship Programs will receive a guaranteed minimum amount within the Freshman Academic Scholarship Program Finalists who designate Butler University as their sponsor are eligible for an additional award of $1,000.

Financial aid and study abroad at Butler University

Butler University is supportive of students who wish to include the study abroad experience in their education. Numerous opportunities for study abroad exist. For example, students studying on a true exchange program such as the International Student Exchange Program (ISEP) will be able to apply all financial aid to program costs. Actual award amounts will be available after the student has received a financial aid notification (FAN) for the year in question and after the Office of Financial Aid has received all documents necessary to complete the Statement of Financial Responsibility. As always, the amount of tuition-specific financial aid cannot exceed the cost of actual tuition paid by the student.

Institutional policy allows students to use one-half (50 percent) of one semester's Butler University funds for their first semester of study abroad programs through IFSA and consortium programs. Students studying abroad for a second semester will be entitled to use 25 percent of one semester's Butler University funds. These awards include, but are not limited to: academic scholarships, audition awards, Butler University grants and endowed and departmental scholarships. The full amount of federal and state awards (i.e. Federal Pell Grant, Federal Stafford Loans) may be used for the study abroad semester, depending upon the cost of the program.

In order to receive Butler University funds for study abroad programs, the student must complete one full academic year at Butler University prior to beginning the study abroad term.

International student scholarships

All undergraduate students pursuing their first bachelor's degree who are not U.S. citizens and who submit a complete application for international admission (including the financial verification form) by February 1 for fall enrollment are considered for a limited number of International Student Scholarships. These awards are intended to assist qualified students by supplementing — not replacing — the family contribution.

Awards are renewable for a maximum of three additional years for freshmen (first year students) with a required minimum G.P.A. Awards are based on academic record, standardized test scores (TOEFL, SAT, ACT, etc.), class rank, financial records, intended major, counselor recommendation and extracurricular involvement.

Leave of absence policy for merit aid

Requests for a leave of absence without forfeiting merit aid must be made in writing and coordinated by the Office of Financial Aid prior to the start of the semester for which the leave is being requested. Merit aid pertains to JCFA, academic and special departmental awards.

A student may request a leave of absence for up to one year. Only one request for a leave of absence will be granted to a student. If another leave is requested and taken by the student, the award will not be retained when the student returns. The request should be made for each individual semester of leave. The request for leave must be made in writing to the Office of Financial Aid. Leaves can be for medical and personal reasons. Personal reasons do not include enrolling at another institution. If, during an academic year, the student enrolls at another college or university, the award is forfeited even if the student re-enrolls at Butler at a later date.

Grants

Grants are gift-aid for students who demonstrate financial need. The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is required each year to determine eligibility.

State grants

(Higher Education Award, Freedom of Choice Grant and Twenty-First Century Scholars)

Dependent students, whose parents are residents of Indiana, who are enrolled full-time as an undergraduate pursuing their first bachelor's degree, should apply for financial aid from the State Student Assistance Commission of Indiana (SSACI) by completing a FAFSA each year. Due to limited funds, the FAFSA must be received by March 10. SSACI does not consider FAFSA applications received after the deadline.

Federal Pell Grant

Undergraduate students pursuing their first bachelor's degree will be considered for the Federal Pell Grant by completing the FAFSA each year. Award amounts vary, depending on need and the number of hours for which the student is registered.

Butler Grant

These awards are made based on financial need as determined by the FAFSA and the student's academic strength. Priority is given to students who file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) by March 1, complete their financial aid file by May 1 and are enrolled full time for the fall semester by May 15 each year. These awards are not automatically renewed, so it is important to file the FAFSA annually. Butler Grants are available to full-time undergraduate students enrolled in coursework on the Butler campus and pursuing their first degree.

Loans

Student loan programs are available; however, we encourage students to consider what is involved when borrowing to meet educational expenses. Loans must be repaid, and loan levels must be managed carefully.

Federal Perkins Loan

The Federal Perkins Loan is a low-interest (fixed five percent) federally-funded loan administered by Butler University and may be part of the financial aid package. Very limited funds for this program are available each year. This loan is a need-based loan awarded to undergraduate students who meet financial aid eligibility. A promissory note must be signed for the loan, and repayment of principal and interest begins nine months after graduation.

Federal Stafford Student Loan

The Federal Stafford Loan is a low-interest loan (loans first disbursed on or after July 1, 2006 will have a fixed rate of 6.8%) with eligibility based on financial information as reported on the FAFSA each year. The -student must be accepted into a degree program and enrolled at least half time (6 credit hours per semester). The maximum a student can borrow per year as an undergraduate is $3,500 as a freshman; $4,500 as a sophomore; and $5,500 as a third-, fourth- or fifth-year student; or $8,500 at the graduate level. There are two components to the Federal Stafford Loan Program — subsidized and unsubsidized. The terms and conditions of loans made under the unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan are identical to a subsidized Federal Stafford Loan except the student is responsible for paying the interest or electing to capitalize the interest onto the loan for repayment after he or she graduates or is enrolled less than half time.

Federal PLUS Loan

Parents who wish to borrow on behalf of the student and who do not have adverse credit history, may borrow up to the cost of attendance less financial aid received for the period of enrollment. The interest rate on the loan is fixed at 8.5%, and repayment begins within 60 days after the loan is fully disbursed. Deferment options may be available through the lender.

Private loans

These loan programs are specifically designed to provide students and their families with alternative financing for their post-secondary education. Students must be credit ready/worthy and may borrow up to the cost of attendance less financial aid received for the period of enrollment. Private loans are based on the borrower's (and co-borrower's) credit & financial history. While we recommend the different programs, approval of any loan will be based on information each lender has obtained and their specific credit criteria. See a financial aid counselor for more details.

Special loan programs

Flossie Cline Loan Fund. This is a memorial loan fund available to students in the College of Education who are studying for their teaching certificate. The loans are distributed through the Office of Financial Aid with approval of the College of Education. They provide for a minimum of $500 per semester with a total four-year maximum of $4,000. Repayment is made after the student's graduation on an agreed-upon schedule with an interest assessment of six percent.
