Breast Cancer Awareness Month

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month and Healthy Horizons wants to help promote this important health issue. Approximately 65% of women over the age of 40 obtain annual mammograms which can increase the chance of surviving breast cancer by 23%. Health information resources regarding breast cancer detection will be provided at Staff Assembly on October 21st at 2 pm in GH 108. Additionally, pre-stamped postcard reminders will be provided for you to send a friend or family member to help remind them to schedule an annual mammogram. Everyone that completes a postcard will be entered in a drawing to receive prizes. Let us all do our part in increasing breast cancer awareness and prevention through early detection.

GREEN TIP

Back to Earth Composting, a local "green" company, takes the stress out of composting for Indianapolis residents. For $5 a week, customers in the greater Butler University area will receive a bucket with a biodegradable liner to fill with compostable material. The waste will be picked up weekly and the biodegradable liner will be replaced. In the spring, the subscribers will receive their contributions back in the form of nutrient-rich soil.

Back to Earth

Compost

The company is the brainchild of Butler University student Connor Burt and began as a proposal for the Real Business Experience class. If you are interested in using Back to Earth's services, visit its booth at the farmers' market, email btecompost@gmail.com or call 574-596-5701. Provide your name, address and phone number.
