

Dear Staff Member,

Butler is home to many family memories. It is difficult to describe just how much my family and I love Butler. Since long before our Men's Basketball team made an appearance in the National Championship game last April, we welcomed the largest incoming class, or we received such honorable rankings in U.S. News & World Report, our love for the University has been demonstrated by wearing our Butler apparel and carrying out The Butler Way.

The Butler Way mentions putting others before ourselves. When you make a gift to Butler, you are doing just that. You are expressing your admiration for this University by providing deserving students with the education and experiences that they have come to know and love for generations.

By participating in this year's employee campaign you ensure that Butler can continue to attract and retain high-achieving students and prepare them not just to make a living, but to lead lives of purpose. It also reflects upon the perception of this University and encourages support from our external constituents, particularly our alumni. If they see a high percentage of those closest to the University supporting the students, they provide support as well. This generates even more resources and experiences that we can provide to our students.

Please, join me in making a gift through this year's faculty and staff giving campaign.

Thank you in advance,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Darlene Waddell".

Darlene Waddell
Administrative Assistant, College of Education

P.S. Everyone who makes their gift before November 1st will be entered into a drawing for two men's home basketball game tickets. Also, any department that reaches 100 percent participation will receive two West Gym Hospitality Suite guest passes per person.