Tuition Remission Policy

Policy Type: Qualified Participants-University Wide
Responsible Office: Human Resources
Effective Date: June 1993
Revision Date: Dec 2019

POLICY:

Butler University provides tuition remission for Butler employees and certain external partners. This benefit is to assist the qualified participant (see definitions section) in personal growth through intellectual development as well as helping enhance the skills and abilities of each individual to reach their full potential.

Tuition remission is also available to dependents and spouses of full-time Butler University qualified participants. University employees may take credit bearing classes at both the undergraduate and graduate degree seeking levels or certain eligible post baccalaureate credit bearing certificate programs. Dependents are permitted to continue educational and intellectual development at the undergraduate degree seeking level only. Spouses are permitted to take classes at both the undergraduate and graduate degree seeking levels, or certain eligible credit bearing certificate programs. The number of tuition remission students (employees or their spouses) in any given graduate degree program or eligible post baccalaureate credit bearing certificate is determined by the dean of the college in accordance with the approved financial model of the program to ensure it meets its revenue goals. If there are more qualified tuition remission applicants than there are tuition remission seats in a graduate or eligible post baccalaureate credit bearing certificate program, the dean of the college will determine which qualified applicants are provided admission in a given cohort.

Degree-seeking status is predicated on the individual meeting Butler University’s admission requirements. The University encourages spouses and dependents to take advantage of all possible financial aid programs in addition to tuition remission.

The tuition remission benefit provided by Butler University is subject to all applicable IRS rules and regulations and may result in taxable income in certain circumstances. Employees should contact their tax advisor regarding the impact of the benefit on the amount of taxable income that they may be required to report to the IRS.

ELIGIBILITY:

1. Remission benefits for Butler University qualified participants

   Employees are eligible for tuition remission after nine (9) months of continuous employment. A waiver of the nine (9) month waiting period may be granted if the individual has been an employee at another institution of higher education for at least one (1) year of employment at the same employment level (ie. part-time, adjunct, full-time, etc.) prior to joining the Butler community. These eligibility requirements must be met before approval for tuition remission can be granted as outlined below.

   a. Remission for full-time Butler University qualified participants: Once the eligibility requirement has been met the full-time employee will qualify for 100% tuition remission but will be limited to a maximum of six (6) credit hours per semester (fall, spring, summer).

Students who turn 26 during a semester, will be allowed to finish this semester using Tuition Remission. Effective Fall 2019, for all new incoming students tax documentation establishing dependent eligibility must be presented to Human Resources along with Tuition Remission authorization form before the Tuition Remission credit is processed by Student Accounts. Spousal benefits cease for the spouse upon filing for divorce. Dependents are not eligible to receive tuition remission for graduate courses.

The process for tuition remission for legally married spouses and dependents should coincide with the normal Financial Aid Office and Admission Office time tables and may require as much as six months lead time prior to the expected date of enrollment for full-time student status. Verification of employee eligibility by Human Resources is mandatory.

Butler requires dependents of full-time Butler University qualified participants applying for tuition remission to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) prior to March 1, each year they plan to enroll.
