Notes:

- CLA324: Law and Orator covers the Speaking Across the Curriculum requirement
- CLA322: Art and Architecture of Greece and Rome covers the Writing Across the Curriculum requirement
- Students may want to continue with their study of both languages throughout their undergraduate career. In this case, the other language would slot in for the various "Upper-level Electives" noted in the schedule.
- Students interested in pursuing advanced graduate work may also benefit from the study of French or German which are offered at Butler. These would most easily be accommodated in the fifth and sixth semesters.
- Classics offers four courses on a regular basis in the summer time, one online (CLA 261: Etymology), one short-term study abroad program to Greece that is 6 credit hours (CLA 300), and two courses that are part of a combined short-term study abroad program to Italy that is 4 credit hours (TI 200 CL and PWB 170 CL). Students should plan to take one of these courses during the summer, as well as several other core courses. Students could also partner with a professor to take a Classics course as an independent study over the summer.

- All Liberal Arts and Sciences students are required to take two semesters of language at the 200-level or above, and either Ancient Greek or Latin can count for this. Students wishing to complete their studies in three years should try to test out of one or more semesters of language; however, this schedule presumes the student has not tested out of any courses.
