Events coming soon – click the links below for more information, or to RSVP

“Nanotechnology and Covid-19” Brown Bag Series for Faculty Research, Scholarship, and Creative Work presentation by Sudip Das (Pharmaceutical Sciences)
Wednesday, February 17, 12:30-1:30 p.m.
RSVP to rdegrazi@butler.edu for Zoom log-in details.

“Best Practices and Advice for Virtual Office Hours” Faculty Food for Thought session led by Mandy Hall (Psychology)
Friday, February 19, noon-1:00 p.m.
RSVP to facultydevelopment@butler.edu for Zoom log-in details.

"Feminist Foundations? Demia Butler, Catherine Marshall, and Harriet Noble – and the Historicization of the Founding Generation of ‘Feminists’ at Butler University" Brown Bag Series for Faculty Research, Scholarship, and Creative Work presentation by Vivian Deno (History)
Thursday, March 4, noon-1 p.m.
RSVP to rdegrazi@butler.edu for Zoom log-in details.

Interested in presenting a Faculty Food for Thought or Brown Bag session next academic year? Visit the links above for more information.

Call for Proposals – Celebration of Innovations in Teaching and Learning (CITL) 2021

CITL 2021 has gone virtual! Click here to learn more, and for instructions on submitting a proposal to present! Proposal deadline is Friday, February 26.

Social Justice and Diversity Panel Series

The SJD Panel Series features faculty across colleges and departments to discuss how disciplinary/departmental configurations shape and deliver knowledge. How do these configurations and priorities affect our ability to teach SJD? Can we imagine a more SJD-focused configuration? How do we get there?

"Departmental and Disciplinary Configurations and the SJD curriculum"
Friday, March 5, 2021, noon-1:00 p.m.
Moderator: Terri Carney, SJD Director; Panelists: Terri Jett (Political Science/LAS); Courtney Mohler (Theater/JCA); Ann Savage (Communication and Media Studies/CCOM); Irune del Rio Gabiola (Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures/LAS)
Zoom Link: https://tinyurl.com/SJDPanels, Questions: core@butler.edu
https://www.butler.edu/core/social-justice-and-diversity

Library Lunchtime Webinar Series
Beginning in January 2021, Butler University Libraries will be offering a series of free, lunchtime Zoom webinars throughout the spring semester highlighting scholarly communications and health sciences topics available to faculty, staff, students, and alumni.

Coming up this month:

- Open Access and Deceptive Publishing, February 16th at Noon
- PubMed Essentials, February 18th at Noon
- Managing Your References with Zotero, February 24th at Noon

Click here to learn more.

Faculty Awards – Call for Nominations – Deadline Extended!

All faculty are invited to submit nominations for the Outstanding Professor of the Year Awards and Distinguished Faculty Awards. The nomination deadline has been extended to Friday, February 26, 2021. Visit https://www.butler.edu/faculty-development/faculty-awards for nomination process and instructions.

PALSave Course Redesign Grant Opportunity

Are you considering switching to a zero cost textbook in one of your 2021/22 courses? If so, PALNI invites you to participate in the PALSave Course Redesign Grant program! As the recipient of a [five-year Lilly Endowment, Inc. grant](https://www butler edu/faculty-development/faculty-awards) to support our affordable learning initiative, PALSave will be offering $500 stipends to faculty as an incentive to adopt zero cost textbooks. Zero cost textbooks may include open educational resources (OER), library ebooks, or other materials available to students at no additional cost. Click here to learn more!

Teaching Tips

"Using Educational Research to Inform Our Daily Practice: Caveats and Opportunities" by Josh Eyler

Other Resources for Faculty

Virtual consultations and support are available by the Center for Academic Technology. To honor social distancing, CAT invites instructors to schedule virtual consultations using Zoom. Doing so will allow CAT team members to talk with you, see you, and also see your computer screen. Email CAT to set up a virtual appointment. You may also send questions via email and request a telephone consultation. Additional information and resources can be found at www.butler.edu/cat.

Visit www.butler.edu/faculty-development for information on future programming opportunities and resources for faculty.